THE RIVER IMPROVEMENT MATTER.

The Executive Committee of the River

Convention has proved itself to be a good working body, having accomplished much more than it was believed they would be able to do the present session. The committee has proved what diligence, energy and persistent endeavor in a good cause can accomplish. It has succeeded in sending to Washington this early a committee of six citizens to present the case of the navigable rivers of the State to Congress. These gentlemen go on instructed to advocate no schemes of improvement, to advance no ideas of river reclamation, or in any way to discuss with the authorities or Congressmen the several measures proposed to restrain and dispose of flood waters and to restore the naviga-bility of the Sacramento and other streams.

But they go to Washington at the request of the Congressional delegation from this State, simply to urge upon the Government the duty of appointing a Commission, as was done in the case of the Mississippi, and to give it sufficient means to examine the situation and to begin such work as is imperatively necessary.

It is a fact that Congress did not erect the Mississippi River Commission until the St. Louis Board of Trade took up the matter, and moved upon the people to send on a citizens' committee to Washington to present the question to the departments and to Congress. The result is well known.

We learn, on inquiry made of Dr.

Dixon, Chairman of the Executive Committee which dispatched the committee of six this week, that there has been raised thus far $4,000 to defray the expenses of the delegation now on the road. Fully a thousand dollars more must be had, and the committee has pledged its personal credit to the delegation that the money shall be raised and forwarded. Even then the members of the delegation will be put to very considerable personal expense, besides giving their time to this important work. Two of the counties most deeply interested have as yet given nothing to the purpose of the work, Yolo and Solano, but the belief is entertained that they will do so. Butte, San Joaquin, Tehama, Yuba, Sutter and Sacramento have contributed liberally, and it is to be hoped that the remaining counties will follow their example at once.

The idea of the appointment of a River Commission was long ago advocated in the Record-Union, and we are convinced that it is the one thing to be done. That accomplished, the question of methods will be before a body having authority, and presumably competent to advise the Government properly. We have implicit faith in the outcome if a Commission is appointed. We believe that the result will be the enlargement of the delta mouth of the Sacramento and San Joaquin; provision for setting back levees so as to enlarge the waterway; the adoption of a systematic method of treating the river; the abandonment of patchwork and the the world in a century—that is, at least, the ablest politician and statesman. The man who succeeds him is Count Szapary, a member of the nobles' reactionary party. That Hungary will profit by the change no one viewing the situation from afar believes for a moment.

It has been known ever since the advent of the young Emperor of Germany that Prince Bismarck, now very aged, would improve an early opportunity to retire to that rest he so well deserves. It was hoped, however, that his reticence would not be had under political stress, as it seems now has happened. The dispatches this morning assert positively that he has resigned his post as helmsman of the German Empire, and that the Emperor has accepted his resignation, the difference between the ruler and his minister being irreconcilable. It matters very little what were the immediate causes of the rupture; it suffices to know that the strongest politician and most far-seeing minister in continental Europe has at last taken to the harness, and that it is to a young, hot-headed and ill-advised ruler that he has surrendered. That Germany will be moved to its very center by the event, goes without saying.

A few years ago it was amusing to read the Eastern comments upon the Chinese encroachments upon the field of labor in California. Especially were our Eastern contemporaries witty concerning the Chinese laundrymen in California, and they never ceased until recently to be a source of infinite jest at the expense of Californians. Now, however, the Chinese have taken alarm, and we are told that they have organized against the "Little Brown Men." It is added that these laundry interests which are threatened with destruction require $20,000,000 capital, probably an exaggeration. But the assault of the Chinese is so grave that the Eastern press no longer treats the matter as a source of wit and satire. It makes a wonderful difference whose ox is gored.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is authority for the statement that the Louisiana lottery people are preparing to make an assault upon the Legislature of Nevada, with the purpose of buying from that body the right to conduct their swindling concern in that State. The Record-Union has the duty of appointing a Commission, as was done in the case of the Mississippi, and to give it sufficient means to examine the situation and to begin such work as is imperatively necessary.

It is a fact that Congress did not erect the Mississippi River Commission until the St. Louis Board of Trade took up the matter, and moved upon the people to send on a citizens' committee to Washington to present the question to the departments and to Congress. The result is well known.

We learn, on inquiry made of Dr. Dixon, Chairman of the Executive Committee which dispatched the committee of six this week, that there has been raised thus far $4,000 to defray the expenses of the delegation now on the road. The idea of the appointment of a River Commission was long ago advocated in the Record-Union, and we are convinced that it is the one thing to be done. That accomplished, the question of methods will be before a body having authority, and presumably competent to advise the Government properly. We have implicit faith in the outcome if a Commission is appointed. We believe that the result will be the enlargement of the delta mouth of the Sacramento and San Joaquin; provision for setting back levees so as to enlarge the waterway; the adoption of a systematic method of treating the river; the abandonment of patchwork and the waste of money in merely dredging here and there and pulling out a few snags each season, for more thorough work; the provision of a surplus waterway for the carriage of surplus waters across the tule lands which are now annually flooded. These or some of these plans will probably be advised, or all of them. The Government cannot and should not be asked to engage in any reclamation schemes. No one looks to that, yet the effect of river reclamation will in part be land reclamation. The systematic treatment of the river, according to a comprehensive plan, such as the Commission may adopt, will enable the small reclamation district system along bottom lands to be abandoned and a general and comprehensive one adopted, under which hundreds of thousands of acres of rich land will be brought into productive use, and the assessment roll of the State be correspondingly enlarged by many millions of dollars, while the effect upon the Sacramento and adjacent valleys, and indeed upon the whole State, will be to inaugurate a new era of prosperity and to augment very greatly the settlement of the valleys. We have uniformly contended that the duty of caring for the navigable rivers of the State is incumbent upon the Federal Government. Latterly that authority has confessed as much, and has so legislated as to acknowledge the duty. It therefore now only remains to secure action, and that is the purpose of the Citizens' Committee which has just departed for Washington.

The resignation of Prime Minister Tisza was not willingly accepted by Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary. The Emperor had entire confidence in him, and undoubtedly he was the man Hungary needed. But he came of low degree, had no sympathy with the manners, tastes or politics of the titled aristocracy, and was besides at enmity with the Pope, whose religion he disliked. He refused to recognize the movement of the nobles to rehabilitate Kossuth with Hungarian citizenship, because the exiled Magyar refused to recognize the validity of the Constitution or the right of the Emperor to the crown. So long as Tisza held the post of Minister, he could not do otherwise than refuse. But the nobles used this refusal as a means to kindle animosity against him among the people, and the pressure finally became so great that the Emperor was forced to sacrifice the ablest man Hungary has given to musical entertainment; without them Mr. Nye's task would be in excess of his powers. If his rostrum humor as an entertainer is to be judged by last evening's "sampling."

THAT BASEBALL BOY.

The Bay Delegation Goes Home and Tells Fibs.

The San Francisco baseball magnates evidently did not care to have it known at the bay that they were so completely routed by the "country" clubs in regard to the schedule and percentages for the coming year.

In an interview with a San Francisco Call man Mr. Harris said: "About half past 2 o'clock in the afternoon Finn said: 'Gentlemen, the train leaves for San Francisco at 3 o'clock. We have made concessions and ask you of you. If you do not agree to them and decide not to stand by the schedule adopted Saturday night we will leave in half an hour for home and never return to Sacramento on business connected with baseball. If you do not desire to remain in the league, there are other towns to fill your place. If you right held out until a few minutes before train time, and when Finn and Harris were getting ready to depart he succumbed, and signed a document agreeing to abide by the schedule, and also attached Shelby's name. According to the schedule agreed to by all the towns, the interior clubs will play four Sunday games at the Haight-street grounds, while the Oakland and San Francisco clubs will play twenty-two. When the Bay clubs are scheduled for this city on Sunday they will also play a morning game in Oakland. On these dates there will be a morning game in Stockton and an afternoon game in Sacramento, or vice versa. In the season of 1900 games will be played, including Friday games in Oakland."

This hardly agrees with the story as told by the local magnates. Instead of Finn getting ready to depart he succumbed, and signed a document agreeing to abide by the schedule, and also attached Shelby's name. Mr. Harris was tired and worn out when interviewed, says the Call. You can see it in his face. He said that the efforts of the California League will never be left in such a chaotic condition again. "We have learned a lesson this season which will never be forgotten. The schedule for 1901 will be adopted at least a month before the season opens."
